Positive Proof of FORD ECONOMY

City of Detroit purchases 137 new Ford cars Hundreds now in use prove low cost of operation

THESE 137 new Ford cars represent one of the largest deliveries ever made to a municipality at one time.

21 radio-equipped Ford scout cars were traded in on this purchase. They had been operated day and night for two years in heavy traffic and all kinds of weather.

Their individual records ranged from 78,434 miles to 143,723 miles with a grand total of 2,283,097 miles. The operating cost of the 21 cars was 2.284 cents a mile - less than 2 1/3 cents. This cost included all fuel, oil, tires, repairs and every other item except depreciation and insurance.

Of 577 Ford cars in Detroit City service, the 300 in the Police Department traveled s total of 6,591,937 miles during the past fiscal year, at an average cost of 2.9 cents

Many claims have been made on operating costs, but here in the excefully kept motor car records of the City of Detroit is positive proof of Ford economy.

In the paragraphs above, it is seen that 21 Ford scout cars averaged less than 2 1/3 cents a mile and 300 Ford cars in all branches of Detroit police work averaged 2.9 cents a mile!

Day and night, twenty-four hours a day, these Ford cars are in operation. Few branches of transportation demand such grueling service. The records show that low fuel and oil consumption is but one of the Ford's many economies. Ford materials, simplicity of design and accuracy in menufacturing provide unusual strength, stamina and freedom from replacements and repairs.

The individual car buyer as well as the nurclinsing department of a city or a business cannot afford to ignore the proved economy of the Ford car.

PROTEGEE— VICTORY AND DEFEAT

By Fannie Hurst

VERY one commented on the tragedy of Ula Lee hiding her light under a bushel basket. That her genius was not only comparable but superior to the pretty singing talent of her niece Marcia was generally conceded by all who knew the rather unique situation of the young woman, Ula Lee, who at twenty was already so valiantly sacrificing herself in behalf of fostering the much slenderer talent of the fair young

Ula was a singing teacher. At the death of her sister when her niece Marcia came to live with her, Ula's interests in her own career suddenly changed to interests focusing upon the younger girl. It was not so much with a consciousness of what she was sacrificing. It was probably a surge of something latent and maternal in Ula manifesting leself at the appearance of this orphan girl in her house-

Whatever secret ambitions and innate consciousness of her own vocal potentialities may have lurked within Ula, the coming of Marcia sidetracked them to such an extent that they seldom floated to the surface of her con-

It is possible that this was made easier by the fact that Ula's future, for the past few years, had been excitingly bound up with that of a young architect who was just beginning to lay the firm foundations of a career that promised well. Felix Ermin and Pla Lee were ideally compatible, He loved her music and she in turn wa filled with the conviction that a great career lay ahead for Felix in the ful-Allment of his splendid art.

Those were happy days for the young pair, filled with struggle, it is true, but the kind of struggle made glamorous by the promise of tomor-

Then Marcia came, A dark, vigorous girl only four years younger than her aunt, but full of immaturitles that made her charmingly the child. It was then that Ula's personal ambitions began to fade behind the dominant, enervescing personality that was Marcia. The girl had a roice, no doubt of that. Thinner, flutler than Ula's, with not so strong a middle register, but one of those pyrotechnical coloratura sopranos. With this voice, Ula worked for four recede, Marcia's came forward,

They were busy, formative years, making a veritable beenive of the little home which Ula shared with her

But do not think that into any of these sacrificial days and nights, when there entered into the young aunt's zeal for the young niece self-denial that was unknown even to her Intlmates, self-pity or even self-realization dawned upon tila.

She had long since begun to realize, taking stock of herself as a person, that the kind of success she most desired in life did not extend beyond the four walls she was to share with Fellx Ermin. It was, perhaps, an embarrassing realization with which to be confronted. The world which Ula most desired was the homely one

There was a dream of a rambling frame house set in the center of a lawn which was to be the center of the paradise of earth, so far as she was concerned. It was not all sacrifice, then, to throw her heart and soul into Marcia's destiny. By instinct, by temperament and by personality, Marn was the sort of person who helonged to the world. She was restless of restraint, coverous of adulation and slowing with the vitality of a potenthat personage, it took the coming of Marcia to make Ula realize all this. No longer was she torn between her natural instinct for a home-life with Fells, and the career of a voice. Marcia had forme to solve that most perplexing of roblems. Marcia was tila's proxy In a way, it is understandable why The throw herself with such wholehearted zeal into preparing the younger piri to trend the ways her own feelings were so willingly, so protefully foregoing. When Marcia was twenty one, she was ready for an audition before an spera committee. Her nunt's tride in her product was nothing short of obsession. There was no doubt that the bad turned out an accomplished

Soger-one with high prospects. The crushing defeat came to the with so, little of the dramatic in it that the scarcely replized the blow until after it had been struck. It must bave been in the way they did it. No

Quite simply, Marcia and Fellx came o Ula two weeks before Marcin was to appear in her audition before the opera committee and confessed their ove. It was simple, honest and un demonstrative. Ula in turn, honest and dom and set about reconstructing an appailing world which had auddenly

Traveling Cinemas

Traveling moving picture shows are the latest cinematic development in Soviet Russia. At present there are more than 1,200 such units traveling from one village to another. The popularity of the exhibitions may be judged by their rapid growth in number during the past two years. At the end of 1925 there were less than 400 traveling movies. This figure rose in 1926 to 900, and for the present year it is planned to produce 2,000 projectors.-Washington Star.

What Do You Give? A New York vocational guidance expert advises people who are not happy in their Jobs to save their money until they can make a change. Canadian Timber It is estimated by the Dominion forest service that the only economic use for three-eighths of the land area of Canada lies in the growing of trees. This vast area of territory, while incapable of successful agricultural production, is, if permanently dedicated, protected and managed, sulted to the production of a timber crop which would guarantee for all time the supply of raw material for Canada's woodusing industries.—Natural Resources Bulletin,

London's Pall Mall

The average American and Canadian tourist may have difficulty in recognizing Pall Mall, as the "Pell Mell," to which the London policeman directs him, when he asks for the famous street. It was named after the French game Pallie-mall, which was first played here in the days of Charles L. On this street were the homes of Defoe of Robinson Cruson fame, Swift of Galilver's Travels. Sterne of the "Sentimental Journey," and Gibbon, the historian.

Ash "Queen of the Woods"

The oak is spoken of as "the Monarch of the Womls," but the ash tree is "Queen of the Woods," says the Montreal Herald. Ancient stories tell that the gods held their council beneath an ash tree, on the tepmost branch of which sat an carle, watchlug the way of the world while a squirrel ran up and down the trank, carrying messages from the bird to the gods. The ash is one of the easiest trees to recognize with its straight trunk, the back a pale gray color, Its lower branches growing straight out tip two black buds, with smaller buds at the sides. Even when other trees have put on their spring does of green, the ash tree stands here.

Weather Lore People began "speaking of the weather" a long time ago. The first scientific treatise on the weather, says the United States weather bureau, was written by Aristotle more than 300 years before the Christian era. The weather bureau ilbrary, which is the largest meteorological collection in the world, has a big book on the weather by Albertus Magnus, printed in 1404. and a facelaille of a weather journal kept by Rev. William Merle of England, who recorded the weather day and glorious Being who is the by day from 1337 to 1344. The first that was, that is, or that will be known, were kept by Rev. Pioneer Railroad Trip Impressed New Yorkers For four days, after reading the announcement that the DeWitt Clinton would undertake a passenger run the full fifteen-mile length of the road. the burghers of the Hudson valley blekered. Some sald the notion was absurd; some said they would keep an open mind.

Then September 24, 1831, arrived. Conductor John T. Clark, first passenger railroad conductor in the North tootled a tin horn as signal to the engineer to start, and the DeWitt Clinton, with a three-car train recking bemind it, was off on the first trip over the cutire conto from Albany to Sche nectady.

It was the beginning of railroading in New York state and the plonger was the Mohawk & Hudson railroad, original unit of the New York Central lines. The engine bad no headlight, no bell, no whistle, no spark arrester in the stack, no cab. But it got close up to twenty miles an hour with three conches and did better than that on the slight downgrade. Today's electric locomotives do sixty miles an hour with a thousand-the Museum of Science and Industry. The trail, which ran from the village of Las Cruces on the Charges river was partially destroyed by the construction of a road to the side of the Madden dam, built to increase the water supply of the Panama canal.

The engineers building the heavyduty concrete read to the Madden dam site removed the ancient paying stones where their modern highway crossed the old trast.

Dispute Over "Asparagus" The term asparagus is one of doubtful origin," writes Frank H. Visc telly, dictionary editor. "It has been traced to the Latin from the Greek asparagos. In Medieval Latin it oc curred as sparagus, and was found in English in the form sparage as early as the year 1000. One scholar trace. It to aspharagous, the wladpipe. Cot grave explains the French asperge as; 'the herb sparage or sparagus,' which Skeat pronounced mere corruptions of the Latin word. The French asperges is a holy water sprinkler, a term derived from the Latin aspergere, to sprinkle, get the asparagus of modern times scarcely seems suited for the purpose of sprinkling, much tess so when tied up in hunches."

aged looking and inactive. He is not Incapable: he is not without education of a sort. He lins held a number of responsible jobs; he Anished high school before he went to work. He dresses with care; he reads a good has Intelligence and he gives the impression of being a gentleman. The trouble is he is sixty years old and no one seems willing to take him on. The firm with whom he was last employed falled, went out of business, and left Harmon high and dry like a floundering ship east upon the shore by the waves. He has tried everything he could think of but to no avail. During the last ten years the man ver forty who is out of employment has had a hard time to get a job. A man of wide experience with the jobless says:

"That people past forty cannot get Jobs became notably evident after the war, when a lot of them were thrown out of employment, and were never able to get their jobs back. Behind this is the delusion which has swept business circles that only the young man is fit. Efficiency experts are in part to binme. Everywhere they go, posing as god, they throw out older people; in order to sell themselves hey must make changes. "Overspecialization, too, operates agoinst men. A man said he was refused a job as a driver of a laundry wagon because he had been a mill wagon driver."

It is true that young men may have more initiative, they think more quickly, they are more alert, though they are not likely to think more accurately. Old men take more time but they are surer. Young men are more adaptable; they learn new ways more easily, they take more risks, but they liave less judgment. There is still a place for the old man in any business where experience and Judgment count. (@ 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Man's Wisdom at Fault Over "Puzzle" of Life

Ever since the dawn of recorded thought wise men and great thinkers have tried to solve the puzzle of life. sorts of answers have been given.

The great Greek dramatist Sophocles said: "The best of life is not to be born." The poet Dante said: "Living is a race to death." One philosopher called life "a fallen tear which the earth drinks up," and another sald: "To fight, and ever to recommence the fight, is life."

Life has been called a comedy and a tragedy, a song and a dirge, a progress and a decay. It has been likened to a stormy and uncharted sea, to fiction and to running water. It has been dubbed an Illusion, a cheat, and a was the problem that was taken up again by the council of the League of Nations at its meet-Ing in Paris. And, coincidentally, there was the job of extricating the league from the unpleasant situation created by Japan's flat refusal to obey its orders. The distinguished diplomats were aided in their task by Ambassador Dawes, who was instructed to proceed from London to act as American observer. While the council discussed ebuted and conferred, the Japanese troops went right along with their program n Manchurla. Gen. Ma Chan-shan. ommander of the Chinese army in Hellungklang province, was ordered by General Honjo, Japanese commander, to withdraw his troops from Anganchi and Tsitslhar, the latter the copital of the province. Ma refused o obey and the Japanese opened a fleres attack with all arms, including bembing planes which dispersed the Chinese envalry. In bitterly cold seather the battle ruged for many ours and the Chinese were finally forced out of both the cities named. In this operation the Japanese troops sdvanced within the sphere of influence of Soviet Russin for the first time, and as Moscow lind warned them against doing this, it was belleved the result might be momenbus. In this big battle along the Ronni river both sides were reported to have sustained heavy casualties. Anticipating a Russian protest, Japan notified Moscow that it held the Chinese Eastern railway partly responsible for the hostilities because had transported Chinese troops.

Ambassador

PARIS General Dawes was much more than an observer. Indeed, he as the central figure and it was ped that in his talks with Tsunco Endalra, Japanese ambassador to compromise might be med out. Dawes also had a long cersation with Dr. Alfred Sze, Chie delegate, which both of them said most profitable. Mr. Pletcher some time ago indicated his wish to resign, but at the President's request remained in office. He had served since the commission's organizatlan, 14 months ago.

In submitting his resignation Mr. Fletcher appended a report of the commission's work, showing that by November 80 its docket would be cleared of all applications and senate requests for information.

GERMANY and France, represent-ed by Secretary of State Buelow and M. Signor Grandi was gratified with the news that Aristide Briand, as head of the lengue council, had declared officially that the one-year armament building truce is in effect as of November 1, for this truce was the suggestion of Grandi-though he called it "an American-Latin idea." In his talks with the correspondents he said: "We think in Italy that the question of disarmament is the most important question existing now in the relations between countries, and that it is high time for everybody to reach some practical result." Asked for his views on war debts and reparations, he called attention to Mussellni's statement in 1922 that war debts and reparations were dependent upon each other and should be scaled down.

THEODORE DREISER, eminent and the other members of the self-appointed committee that went to Kentucky to investigate the alleged ill treatment of coal miners in Bell coupty got themselves into a peck of trouble if the nutherities of that state can get hold of them. MORE trouble has come upon the bureau of prohibition through the killing of a youth in Englewood, Colo., by Henry Dierks, a dry agent.

The people out there are greatly aroused, and the bureau started an investigation of the affair. Dierks, in making a raid, found the young man, Milford Smith, in possesslon of a bottle of wine and in a struggle with him clubbed him to death. The city council of Englewood passed and sent Henry Dierks to the bureau in Washington a resolution in which were set forth some of the incidents in Dierks' career. It charged that Dierks, while acting as an undercover man a few years ago, had employed a 17-year-old girl as an informer; that he had got drunk collecting evidence in a raid and that in 1030 he had clubbed a helpless prisoner with his revolver. Howard T. Jones, assistant director of prohibition, said this was all news to the bureau and that there was nothing in its records to the discredit of Dierks.

According to the Englewood police, Dierks fractured Smith's skull with t blow with the butt of his revolver and then placed him in Jail where he remained nine hours without medical attention. Smith died soon after teing taken to a hospital, Secreary Stimson and Canadian Minister Herridge made arrangements for reconvening of the foliat engineering leard, which will attempt to agree on procedure in the international section.

NONE of the party leaders in Wash-ington now seem to doubt that there will be legislation to increase federal taxes, for the deficit at the end of the present fiscal year will be too big to be taken care of by further bond issues. Senator Jim Watson of Indiana, majority leader of the schale, said a tax increase was nescapable," and as he had just been in conference with the President it vas assumed this was the opinion of Mr. Moover. The "progressive" Republicans are calling for higher income taxes In the Eigher brackets, and there may he little opposition to this in either party.

Democratic leaders had feel to say, for their program is not yet settled. Anyhow they expect the adialitistration to recommend the tax increase and thus shoulder the responsibility, after which they can decided how they think the deficit should be met.

A MERICAN exporters, already wor-ried by the scenting certainty of British tariff legislation, were further distanced by the nows that the Turk-Ish government had Issued a decree drastically limiting the importation of 1.000 articles, no consideration being given to merchandise in customs or en route. America is hit by fimits placed on such articles as automobiles, motion picture films, camera films, automobile tires and rudios. Comparatively small amounts of these articles will be permitted to enter the country during November and December, and new quotes will be fixed for succeeding months.

MAN AND HIS MATE

Our wives believe that we're all right, Despite what others think-And by our side they'll stand and fight To Life's eternal brink! And though they jibe us 'round the house, For messin' up the place, As our beloved, loyal spouse They'd fight to save our face!

If we've a humble task-If they believe we really try, That's all of us they ask. Though married life is marred with strife, Sometimes, throughout its span, I still will say a loyal wife

Cures for Various Ills An ancient cure for touthache was to have an offering of meat on a store. Whatever bird took the Coll away assumed also the burden of the complaint. Almost incredibly childish was that procedure for minoring a stye from the eye. All that was needed here was to push one end of a stick In the fire, point the blazing end towards the affected eye, and which it round rapidly in a circle, repeating "Go lack, go back, styc." An old fishernian persisted that he had seen this cure, and that it actually we ried. Hiecup was quite simply cured by accusing the patient of theft, but a stift neck and to be squeezed between the legs of the tongs before it would yield to treatment. Another curious treatment for toothacke. THE OPEN MIND

Often the preacher is accused of narrowness, conservatism, as opposed to innovation, or change, and his accuser is usually one who boasts of an "open mind." He is often a man whose mind is open to question and doubt rather than to reason. His vaporings are usually of the destructive kind. He is so liberal he stands for nothing. He seeks to unsettle faith and has not adequate substitute. An open mind,in the best sense-God give us that. It is well to have an open mind, but unless our thought is constructive, God forbid that the mouth be as wide open. The wise man may change his mind and find himself unable to recall words spoken in the days of his callow mentairs. Fundamental teaching can do nothing but with a little knowledge, "Have the mind in you that was also in Christ Jesus. "Preach the Word." After 2000 years of destructive criticism it stands creet.
